The illustrations depict a sequence of events where a group of people discover and interact with a mobile application. In the top-left, a man sits on a bench while others approach him, with speech bubbles indicating a conversation about friends. In the top-middle, a group of people are gathered, with one person asking 'What do you want?' and another responding 'Do you have something to say?'. In the top-right, a person is seen from behind, looking at a screen that displays 'LUMS Discussion Forum' and 'Private group of 13-16 members'. In the middle-left, a hand holds a phone showing a menu with options like 'Find a friend', 'Find a therapist', and 'Community Center'. In the middle-middle, a hand holds a phone showing a list of items, possibly a directory or a list of people. In the middle-right, two people are talking, with one saying 'I love this app' and the other replying 'I agree, I'm happy and glad to meet you'. In the bottom-left, a hand holds a phone showing a profile of a person. In the bottom-middle, a hand holds a phone showing a list of items, similar to the one in the middle-middle. In the bottom-right, two people are talking, with one saying 'I love this app' and the other replying 'I agree, I'm happy and glad to meet you'.
